Christmas Dinner

For Canadian Soldiers

Every Canadian soldier under arms in the Dominion will be given a special Christmas dinner. The militia department at first proposed to provide the dinner but protest came from a number of local points where troops were mobilized. An arrangement has already been made by the citizens for a Christmas dinner. In view of this fact the department will leave the providing of special dinners to local organizations. When no such arrangements have been made the militia department will have no alternative but get turkey and plum pudding.

The soldiers at Salisbury will be looked after by the British army and special arrangements will be made by all the battalions for Christmas celebrations.

WHO IS BUYING

CANADA'S NICKEL?

It is alleged in the London press that Canada is materially helping Germany by allowing the United States to import her nickel, which there goes to Germany for war munitions, says "Windermere" in a cable from London.

The Globe also why the Canadian government does not extend its prohibition of export to all countries outside the British Empire, "Pitman" says, "The British Empire, 'Pitman' the but cut off at the source, and all questions of the right of a neutral flag to cover enemy cargo would be solved."

"It is amazing that we should be creating our own troubles by acquiescing in the sale of nickel to the supplies from within our own empire."

Germans Have Had

Inside Information

The authorities of Scarborough, especially those concerned with coast defenses, are investigating some strange coincidences in connection with the German raid. All the facts point to intimate knowledge of the localities on the part of the commanders of the German warships. It may be said that it is easy to gain exact acquaintance with the position of a railway station, for instance by the use of an ordinary map or the ordinary plan of a town, but the German gunners went further than that. They directed their shells at the hotel and the residence where only recently some Yorkshire Dragoons, Yeomanry and Territorials were quartered for training purposes. In only one case did these premises escape injury.

London Review of War for Week

In France and Belgium the Allies' offensive is being pressed and another good ground has been gained at widely separated points, other attacks have been repulsed by the Germans from their strongly entrenched positions. In the northern area the artillery warfare yesterday took up the battle, giving the infantry a rest, but fewer down the line and from the One to the Meuse here fighting took place in many districts.

While the progress of the Allies is extremely slow, it is the belief of military experts in London and France that the gains when the general assault has been made are enormous and the German system of fortification as well as positions, and well, it necessarily consumed, except in necessary cases, the German from their positions.

In the east most of the German army of the Meuse have retired across the last Russian frontier before the capture of the Meuse, south of the river, between the Meuse and the Pilsen, the Germans continue their advance, and announce that a fierce battle has been fought in crossing branches of the Meuse and the Pilsen at many points. This should bring the German army to the Pilsen and a few days will tell whether the German advance is to be definitely checked or whether the Germans are again to threaten the Pilsen.

Fighting also continues in Galicia, but here, as along the Meuse, the Russians seem to have been successful in holding back the German forces. The Germans, who are extremely strong along the whole eastern frontier, already are reported to be moving troops back to the Meuse, but it is not considered likely that this movement will reach large proportions until some decisive result has been obtained in the contest against the Russians.

The Turks, like their allies, are being attacked on two sides. The Russians claim to have inflicted a severe defeat on them in the district of Van, while the allied forces have been harassing Kilid Bahr, in the Taurus, and a French destroyer has shelled their troops on the mainland opposite the island of Tenedos.

The first real view of the extent of the South African rebellion is given by the clinician of justice who said that 4,000 rebels are now in prison and that 1,200 have been sent to the front. The rebels are still a few remaining about the country, but they are without leaders and are surrendering upon the appearance of any force.

First Prize Court to

Convene in Canada

For the first time in the history of the Dominion of Canada, a prize court, an Imperial tribunal exercising jurisdiction in time of war, was constituted in Ottawa with Mr. Justice Giesse, of the exchequer court, sitting as court. The case was one involving the seizure of the ship Boitas by the British customs officers in the port of Quebec after the declaration of war between Great Britain and the German empire. The ship's papers required that it was a German ship, constructed of iron, and of the net weight of 1,000 tons. The ship was built in 1875, and her home port is Hamburg. The registered owners are J. Willmar & Company.

Borden's Tribute

to Belgian Nation

Premier Borden's message, Mr. Borden's speech, and the Belgian king is placed between Lord Lansdowne's and John Redmond's in the magnificent tribute just published called "King Albert's Book." Borden says: "As long as love of liberty endures, as long as the character and greatness of a nation is measured by its ideals, so long will the valor, heroism, faith and devotion of the Belgian people and king shine in the memory of men. It will be an exemplar and inspiration not to Belgium alone, but to the world."

Presbyterian S.S. Hold Annual Xmas Tree

Appropriate Program Rendered—Santa Claus Had Preen for Every Child.

The Presbyterian church Sunday school held their annual Christmas tree in the Congress Theatre last Tuesday evening. The hall was crowded to the doors with men, women and children and all thoroughly enjoyed the program rendered by the children. Appropriate choruses, songs, recitations and dialogues were rendered by the children in a most pleasing manner, showing that great interest had been taken in their preparation. Those instrumental in getting up the program and training the children were surely well rewarded for their trouble. During the evening Santa Claus appeared on the platform and after a short address presented each child with a present from the heavily laden Christmas tree. A collection for missions was taken up and amounted to $20.00.

France Establishes Court in Alsace

The first French court in the re-conquered territory of Alsace, was formally established last week. The tribunal was dramatic in its simplicity. The court room was crowded with girls in picturesque Alsatian costumes and old men who had waited forty odd years for the day when France should return to Alsace.

The court room was silent until the guard of honor of dragons posted back of the dais drew their salutes at the word of command from their officers. Another officer then entered the room and advanced to the judges' desk and said:

"In the name of the French people—the law abiding of an old Alsatian—unable to restrain his emotion rendered the officers, but after a short pause he continued, 'and by virtue of the instructions of the general commanding the first army, we declare Monsieur the judge at Thann with jurisdiction.' etc."

"That was all. The young people rushed cheering out into the street, while the old men remained for a while in their places in quiet ecstasy."

Judge Sustains

Magistrates Decision

In Appeal Case for Draying Without a License—Says Bylaw to Protect Local Teamsters.

It will be remembered that some time ago a case was brought before Judge Bott and Magistrate Henderson in which one named T. J. Gallup was charged with violation of the bylaw by doing draying for the new day and night without first having procured a town license. The local magistrates fined Gallup the price of the horse and the costs of the court. The defendant appealed the case and it was heard before Judge Winters in Justice Hall. At the time the judge considered the bylaw but has since given it. His finding sustained the decision of the local magistrats, finding the defendant for disregarding the town bylaw. The judge claimed the bylaw was passed as a protection for the local men engaged in that business and it was right that it should be enforced.

Hartlepool Inquest
on Innocent Victims

At an inquest held in Hartlepool over the bodies of 79 victims of the German bombardment, the verdict declared that the deaths were due to bombardment of the twin boroughs by an enemy who, under cover of a dense fog, fired shot and shell into the towns, killing many unarmed civilians.

In opening the court the coroner said that never before in English history had an inquest been held under similar circumstances, and that he hoped the occasion would never occur again. The shelling of the Hartlepool, he added, afforded a faint idea of what Belgium and France had suffered through the German invasion.

The evidence, though mostly of a formal character, brought to light some pathetic cases. An old woman was picked up coal dropped from cars on the railway embankment when she was killed by a shell. An old man and his two daughters were just starting breakfast in the kitchen when a shell burst in the room, killing all three of them. A young woman went to the house of her aged mother intending to conduct her to a place of safety, entering the passage way she stumbled across her mother's body. A shell pierced the roof and killed her. An elderly man, who thought the gun firing was that of British ships at practice, sat down unconcernedly at breakfast. A shell carried away the corner of his house, killing his two little grandchildren.

The verdict rendered by the coroner's jury was that the deaths of the 79 persons were due to bombardment of the twin boroughs by an enemy who, under cover of a dense fog, fired shot and shell into the towns, killing many unarmed civilians.

CHURCHILL'S MESSAGE.

Hon. Winston S. Churchill, in a message to the Canadian News' war souvenir, pays a tribute to the Canadian contingent. He says: "Now is the time for Canadian manhood to vie with the trained soldiers of France and Britain in rivalry, sacrifice and daring to show the old world what matter of man is bred across the Atlantic, and what sort of things they care to fight for."

Lloyd George says: "Canada is playing a part worthy of her noblest traditions."

SERBIANS ADVANCING ON BOSNIAN TERRITORY.

The Serbian and Montenegrin armies have again joined hands after the defeat of the Austrians who included Serbia, and are now making their second advance towards Sarajevo, capital of Bosnia. The two armies, the supplies of which have been replenished by capture from the Austrians, have crossed a junction near Valjevo, which the Montenegrins have occupied. They expect to be before Sarajevo within three or four days.
